July 24, 2009 (Columbus, OH) — Return On Ingredients President and CEO Mark Kelnhofer has been asked to participate on a panel regarding menu engineering and improved profitability at the Airport Revenue News (ARN) Revenue Convention and Exposition. The ARN conference will be held at the Hilton Americas in Houston, Texas March 14-16, 2010. Kelnhofer, President and CEO of Return on Ingredients, created a proven, one-of-a-kind methodology to mitigate loss and increase profits in the restaurant industry.

“We are very pleased with our choice of Houston as the host city for our show next year and the Hilton is a beautiful venue. The hotel’s floor plan is well laid-out, conducive to learning, networking and exhibiting,” says Pauline Armbrust, president & CEO of ARN. “We will be sending out more details on the conference as well as the agenda, which we ensure will be exciting, informative and productive.”

The ARN show features three days of learning sessions covering industry innovations and trends. Additionally, an exhibit hall showcases the leading companies and airports in the business. The event is punctuated by an awards show celebrating the best companies and airports in the industry. Exhibit and registration details will soon follow.
